Greater Boston Labor Council Supports the Massachusetts State House Employee Union

All workers deserve a voice on the job. They deserve the right to form a union and bargain in good faith with their employer. The Greater Boston Labor Council supports the Massachusetts State House Employee Union. We urge Senate leadership to recognize this union and affirm the State House workers' right to come together and speak with a united voice.

Massachusetts Legislative staffers play a vital role at the State House as we fight for a more equitable Massachusetts. Many staffers work long hours for pay that is still low, even with the recent increase. In addition, staffers are fighting to shift the long-standing culture of discrimination and sexual harassment. This is unacceptable in any workplace, and our legislature can and must do better.

The Greater Boston Labor Council is proud to stand in solidarity with the Massachusetts State House Employees Union as they fight for workplace equity, protection from harassment and abuse, and living wages to benefit all Massachusetts residents. The Massachusetts legislature has a long history of standing up for workers rights. State house staffers should be no different. We urge voluntary recognition of the second state legislative union nationwide.

An injury to one is an injury to all!
